

MEDIA ETHICS AND ACCOUNTABILITY

Too many people gave encouragement and useful ideas on this project to mention all by name, but I would like to mention some: Dale Pfeifer, research assistant at Massey University, for her support and insights, Elspeth Tilley for her extremely helpful suggestions, Petrina Hargrave for her invaluable critique and for sharing her research, Beth Houston for her encouragement and David Wallace in IT at Massey for technical support. Finally, a special thank you to those at the scene: Urachat Panyawut for her reflections on her work with the survivors of the Asian tsunami, and above all, the journalists who so generously shared their experiences.

PUBLIC RIGHT TO KNOW SPECIAL EDITIONS

The Australian Centre for Independent Journalism (ACIJ) is a Journalism Research Centre attached to the University of Technology, Sydney. The ACIJ is fully committed to the principle that democratic societies require independent, critical and investigative journalism of the highest standard. Each year the ACIJ hosts the Public Right To Know conference. It brings journalists, academics and students together to discuss media issues and the public right to know. Papers from the 2002 and 2003 conferences have been published in the UTS Law Journal and Pacific Journalism Review respectively. The 2004 papers have been published in Australian Journalism Review.

Copies are available through the ACIJ.
